

Bring YOUR Friends and Family to

WORKING AMERICA

Wouldn't it be great if your friends and family could be part of the union movement—even if they don't have a union where they work?

Wouldn't we be stronger with more voices joining the fight for an economy that works for all?

Community Plus Unions Gives All of Us a Stronger Voice and More Power

- Working America has more than 3 million members.
- Working America gives voice and power to workers in their communities.
- Working America inspires your friends and family with a progressive view on economic issues.
- Working America members become part of the union movement.
- Working America members take action. Hundreds of thousands have spoken out for job creation by writing or calling their representatives, signing petitions and sending e-mails. And Working America members have written thousands of letters to support health care for all and protecting workers' rights.

We're asking you to grow the progressive movement in your community. Invite your aunts, uncles, cousins, neighbors and friends to join Working America. It's as simple as this:

- 1. Tell them about Working America;
- 2. Hand them a membership card; and
- 3. Get their signature and send it back.

(Dues are $5 a year. Payment is voluntary, but every dollar helps advance our work for affordable health care, decent jobs and a fair economy.)

Why Join Working America?

- Working America fights for a balanced economy and a level playing field.
- Working America gives good information on the issues that matter.
- Working America demands an economy that works for all.
- Working America provides benefits, such as free legal help, a low-cost pharmacy plan and more.
- Working America holds politicians and corporations accountable.
- Working America strengthens our voices and our power to make change.

When we join forces, our elected and business leaders can really hear us.
On Election Day—and every day. Loud and clear.
